FEAR OF RAIN IN CUBA.

The Evil Effect of Water Is Not a Mere Superstition There.

The average Cuban is dreadfully afraid of rainwater. He believes that Miss Mamie Williams, guests of Dr. drenching in a rainstorm, followed by C. B. Smith and family, returned to exposure to the rays of the sun, produces fever-not necessarily yellow fever, but an attack something similar to what is known as swamp fever in Mississippi or chagres in the isthmus of

The same belief prevails in Central and South America, but in a greater degree. On both coast lines of Nicaragua a light shower is the signal for a general scampering indoors and a disinclination to come out again until the sky is perfectly clear. Up on the high plateau on which the city of Caracas in Venezuela is situated and where there Assessor G W. Swapping Telephones.

The following story comes from the Grand Rapids Press and has to do with a man and a woman who are employed buildings of that city. Each office has a telephone, but as it happens one is an instrument belonging to the Citizens' company, the other a Bell instrument. One day the man had occasion to use the Citizens' line and stepped across the hall to the lady's office. "Have you a Citizens' phone?" he asked, and she replied in the affirmative.

"Well," he ventured: "I'm a citizen. May I use it?" Why, of course he might use it, but inwardly she was inclined to envy his ability to stand up and assert his citizenship in this way, for some of her womanly propensities were of the "newish" sort. An hour later she balanced accounts with him.

"Have you a Bell telephone?" she asked on stepping into his office. He did not try to deny it.

"Well, I'm a belle. May I use it?"

The Howell Torpedo.

Commodore John A. Howell, who has just been promoted to the rank of rear admiral, is the inventor of a self Whitehead stored compressed air in an adjoining compartment a small engine which should be operated thereby at the right juncture. Howell employs a heavy flywheel, which is put in rapid revolution, just before the torpedo is launched, by connecting its projecting axle with a steam engine that is entirely independent of the torpedo. The Howell system has been improved since it was first patented in 1871, and it has been extensively used in the United States navy.

The Rarest Bird.

The rarest bird in existence is a certain kind of pheasant in Annam. For many years its existence was known only by the fact that its longest and most splendid plume was in much request by mandarins for their headgear. A single skin is worth $400, and the living bird would be priceless, but it soon dies in captivity.

WINE OF CARDU

For Mothers!

THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost en-tirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives toneto the genitalorgans, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

A Colored Woman Represents Herself as Christ and Preaches the Doctrine of Fasting as a Means of Grace.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28. - A case of fanaticism of the extreme type has been discovered here. Miss Nell Thompson, colored, died while being taken from the home of Mrs. Minerva Williams, who is said to call herself a representative of Christ and who has been preaching the doctrine of fasting as a means of grace.

The Tohmpson woman practiced this doctrine, having gone without food for eight days and sleeping in the river bottom on a piece of matting in pursuance of what is said to be Mrs. Williams' teachings. The matter is to be investigated.

Actual Aggregate Cost of New Concern Exclusive of the Plug Tobacco Business of the American Tobacco Co., About $60,000,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Nearly two years ago Col. J. B. Hughes, of Hamilton, O., and his associates, Fletcher S. Heath, a banker, of the same city, and Perry S. Heath, first assistant postmaster general, began to syndicate the great plug tobacco manufacturing establishments of this country and form an organization which, although at that time without the design, is now to control more than four-fifths of the tobacco output of the country and take from the American Co. its entire plug

For more than eleven months past, eight or ten of the largest capitalists in the country, including three or four of the leading tobacco manufacturers, have devoted almost their entire time to the work of perfecting this organization and bringing the manufacturreason of imprisonment during one of ers together. A month before the declaration of war against Spain $28,500, 000 in cash, the amount necessary to begin the transfer of the properties, was made ready, but the prospect of war frustrated all plans. Two of the largest life insurance companies in New York city at one time contracted to take upwards of $20,000,000 in the first bonds, while Russell Sage and his associates had arranged to place half as much more.

MAIL SERVICE IN MANILA.

United States Postal Agent Vaille Reports to the Post Office Department That Everything is Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.-United States Postal Agent Vaille, at Manila, has submitted a report to the post office department on the postal operations there. He says everything is moving satisfactorily, and that the largest business houses report the mail facilities much better than at any time under Spanish rule. He speaks in glowing terms of the island, expresses the hope that the United States will retain it. He says there is room for millions of people, and that the country is not surpassed by any in the United States. He adds that on September 19 he had a short talk with Aguinaldo at Malatos about the mails in the provinces under Aguinaldo's control, where the former Spanish officials are out and there is no regularly constituted postal authority in charge. Aguinaldo, who promised to send a representative to discuss the matter, was told that if he could satisfy the agent that the mails sent out would be delivered to addresses in proper condition he would deliver the mails.

THE HOLY LAND.

The German Emperor and Empress' Entrance Into Jerusalem.

Sunday the Imperial Pair Attended Services at the Evangelical Church in Bethlehem, Afterward Paying a Visit to the Church of the Nativity.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 31.—The approach of their German imperial majesties to the city Saturday was made through later to represent Porto Rico at Washtriumphal arches and amid banners, garlands and overgrown crowds, displaying in every way their enthusiasm and delight.

The formal entry through the Jaffa played the German anthem.

William and Empress Augusta Victoria proceeded on foot, amid wild Sepulcher, where they were received by the Catholic, Greek and Armenian clergy, whose patriarchs presented addresses eulogizing the devotion of Emperor William, who has since conferred decorations on the patriarchs.

Their majesties then proceeded to the German Evangelical church, where the pastor presented an address.

Sunday the imperial pair attended | Rico territorial rights. service at the Evangelical church in Bethlehem, afterward paying a visit to COL. G. E. WARING, JR., DEAD. the Church of the Nativity.

The weather Sunday was beautiful and everywhere the greatest enthusiasm was displayed.

After the excursion to Jericho, Djevad Pasha, former grand vizier, recently Turkish governor of Crete and now attached to the person of Emperor William as a special representative of the sultan, will leave the imperial suite. It is rumored that this is due to some unpleasantness.

Emperor William has sent his por trait in brilliants to Tewfik Pasha Turkish ambassador to Germany, who was among the high Ottoman dignitaries that received the emperor and empress in Constantinople.

Emperor William and the empress, while at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, visited the various portions of the sacred shrine and spent ten minutes at the scene of the crucifixion. Their return from the church was the occasion for an outburst of popular enthusiasm, palm branches being strewn along the way and the cobblestones laid with carpets.

London, Oct. 31 .- The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Mail says: According to private information received here, Emperor William's reception at Haifa, Palestine, was anything but a success. The Turkish ironclads that were to fire a salute did not ar rive until four hours after the emperor's departure, and nobody was allow ed to witness the imperial landing from the windows.

Mother's Friend

is an external liniment for expectant mothers to use. It gives them strength to attend to their household duties almost to the hour of confinement. It is the one and only preparation that overcomes morning sickness and nervousness. It is the only remedy that relaxes and relieves the strain. It is the only remedy that makes labor short and delivery easy. It is the only remedy that puts the breasts in condition so that swelling or rising is impossible. Don't take medicines internally. They endanger the lives of both mother and child.

VISITING A SHRINE.

Lieutenant Rawlinson's Daring Entry Into the Sacred City of Kum.

Kum, a walled city of Persia, ranks second to Meshed in sanctity, on account of the famous shrine of Masuma Fatima, sister of the Imam Riza, a famous saint of the Mohammedans. While Lieutenant Rawlinson was on his way to Teheran he heard much of this sacred city and the glories of the shrine, which, it was said, no European had ever entered. Death, so rumor whispered, would be the portion of the audacious infidel who should be discovered within its precincts.

To a young and ardent spirit a dangerous adventure is an irresistible attraction. Young Rawlinson determined to visit the shrine. Disguised as a Persian pilgrim, thousands of whom annually journey to the sacred city, he joined the crowd of pilgrims. His knowledge of Persian and of the customs of the country enabled him to pass undetected through the temple gates and to make his way to the tomb of the saint. The guardian gave him the customary form of words and he repeated them.

But his curiosity almost caused his detection. Attracted by magnificent suits of steel armor which hung on the walls, he was gazing at them, when suddenly he found that he had turned his back upon the sacred shrine wherein the saint was entombed. A thrill of alarm startled him, but the discourtesy, impossible to a "true believer," had not been noticed. If it had been, there would probably have been no further career for the young lieutenant, who subsequently became the decipherer of Assyrian and Babylonian inscriptions and texts, and died the renowned orientalist, Sir Henry Rawlinson.—Youth's Companion.

MATES OF GREAT MEN.

The Wives of Both Disraeli and Gladstone

Once when Gladstone was making an outdoor speech it began to rain. Quietly One word won't tell folks what you are-Mrs. Gladstone, with her sweet, motherly face, and who always accompanied One inch won't make you very tallher husband, stood up, and, opening a domestic looking umbrella of the Gamp species, held it over him. The spectacle which the old couple presented there standing together was so touching and appealed so thoroughly to the good feelings of the crowd, because of the striking picture of Darby and Joan domesticity, that when a burly costermonger. who had been loudest in his catcalls and hooting of Mr. Gladstone up to that moment, suddenly shouted, "Three cheers for the grand old woman!" every one responded with a will. votion to Gladstone's great rival on more than one occasion. She, too, was devoted to her husband, and many old parliamentarians recall the story of how after having had her hand terribly crushed in the carriage door while driving down to the house of parliament with Disraeli she refrained from utter- business. ing a cry or from saying a word about her injury lest his mind should be diverted from the great and important speech which he was to deliver that night. It was not until he reached home and found the doctor at her bedside that he was made aware that she had sustained any hurt .- New York Herald.

Dancing Birds.

One of the many strange sights on the plains of southern Africa is a party of waltzing ostriches. Their queer an tics have been described thus:

"When there are a number of them, they will start off in the morning and after running a few hundred yards will stop, and with raised wings will whirl rapidly round till they are stupefied or perhaps break a leg. The males pose also before fighting and to make their court. They kneel on their ankles, opening their wings and balancing themselves alternately forward and backward or to one side or the other, while the neck is stretched on a level with the back and the head strikes the sides, now on the right, now on the left, while the feathers are bristling. The bird appears at this time so absorbed in its occupation as to forget all that is going on around him and can be approached and caught. The male alone utters a cry, which sounds much like an effort to speak with the mouth shut

Discovery of the Home of Buddha. Far away on the border of Nepal the home of Guatama Buddha has been discovered. Buddha lived about 500 B. C. and was the sou of the rajah of Kapilavastu. A pillar, inscribed by the Emperor Asoka in the third century B. C., marks the city's site. The ruins are all of brick and are covered with jungle and so extensive that their exploration will require years. The city was destroyed during Buddha's lifetime. It was a mass of ruins in A. D. 410, when the first Buddhist Chinese pilgrim made his way there. The buildings that are now being excavated are older than anything known in India heretofore. -Lon don Letter.

Sixty-two Children.

A remarkable tale of human fecundity is told by the London Daily News. An Italian peasant woman named Granata, married at 28 years, has borne 62 children. She began with a single daughter, followed by six boys at a birth, then by five more, and these by triplets twice and four at a birth. After this she limited herself, like ordinary women, to single babies and twins, but wound up with another batch of four.

Eczema!

Eczema is more than a skin disease and no skin remedies can cure it. The doctors are unable to effect a cure, and their mineral mixtures are damaging to the most powerful constitution. The whole trouble is in the blood, and Swift's Specific is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated blood

Eczema broke out on my daughter, and continued to spread until her head was entirely covered. She was treated by several good doctors, but grew worse, and the dreadful disease spread to her face. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no benefit. Many patent medicines were taken, but without result, until we decided to try S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished, her head began to heal. A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth. She is now sixteen years old, and has a magnificent growth of hair. Not a sign of the dreadful disease has ever returned,

H. T. SHORE, 2704 Lucas Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Don't expect local applications of soaps and salves to cure Eczema. They reach only the surface, while the disease comes from within, Swift's is the only cure and will reach the most obstinate case. It is far ahead of all similar remedies, because it cures cases which are beyond their reach. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other mineral. Books mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

NATURE CHISELED HIM FOR IT

He Was a Collector, and No Better Man for His Business Could Be Found.

"There's the best collector in De troit," and the head of the firm indicated the man on whom the praise had been bestowed.

"He doesn't look it."

"No, nor anything like it, yet I believe that his appearance is about 90 per cent. of his stock in trade. Just size him up. Did you ever see a more ingenuous face? He got his job just as he gets money from debtors that are bad pay. He came right to me and asked for employment. I told him we were not in need of anyone and followed the usual form in telling him to call again. He took the invitation literally, walked around the block and dropped in to make another application. 'You told me to call again,' he said. 'Want a good man?' I did the usual thing once more, carelessly asking him to call again. Another trip around the block and he put in his third appearance, once more informing me that he was a good man in search of a job. I tried him again, and he proved to be a four-time winner.

"Then it struck me that he would make a collector if he carried his persistency into his work and he has proved a wonder. He has realized on old accounts that we had given up as hopeless long ago, simply wearing debtors down to where they would pay rather than be bothered any further. One sharp rascal, who makes no pretense of paying his debts, told our phe- are stationed there. nomenon that he would have to get up very early in the morning to get anything out of him. CHAPTER X .-- CONTINUED.

One o'clock came, and the call had gone from sentry to sentry, thanks to the breathless stillness of the air, and the moon was climbing high, and Bux was still up and swearing. A "wire" came out from the Junction that the "special" would not be there for two hours, so the Riflers had stacked arms, unslung packs, and were snoozing or skylarking as suited their humor. The colonel had given permission for a dance at Miguel's. The band was playing, and there was jollity in the wind. Bux said he wouldn't have the cavalry mixed up in any such tomfoolery, however, and the patrol was saddled and ready to start. Grafton, coming back from his stable, where he had gone to personally see to the selection of the mounts required, stopped and drew

"I'm sorry for the needless trouble you took this evening, Merriam. I had patch came for her three hours ago, and it seems to have roused her to action. At all events the orderly hasn't found him, and Bux may send you after the stragglers in

"Then I reckon I'll start and make the rounds and get out of the way." said Randy, "By the way, captain, I hope your private stable is well secured. We have only one sentry on that whole front now, and that matched team of horse fanciers. I mean to make two or three trips around the row to-night."

"Well, then I can save you several hundred yards, Merriam," said Grafton, fumbling in his pocket. "Take the short cut through my yard. There are no private horses between me and the Graftons' gate and then become lost in east end of the line, you know. Here's the shadows of the row. Hardly know-diagonally the Junction road as they

But"-a happy thought striking him-"in less than ten minutes he will be coming through here on his rounds. I gave him the key of our rear gate. It's warm and pleasant out here. You might hail and halt him as he enters." Meantime there had been a sore, sore-hearted young wife farther up the row. As wrath and passion sobbed themselves away and the devil of jealousy wore itself out, and the thought of Randy's patience and gentleness and of all that Mrs. Hayne had said of his unflagging tenderness and love, poor Florence began to wonder if she had not angered him beyond repair. His last act had been one of fond, thoughtful care. He had spread the shawl over her and lingered over it as though he loved to touch her, mad, miserable, ugly, hateful as she had been, and she had spitefully thrown it off. She picked it up now and strove to arrange it as he had done, but could not. She arose and bathed her face and eyes, and gazed out over the now deserted parade. She had not even stirred when the Riflers marched away. She paced the floor again and felt that she was weak, and became conscious that she was most unromantically hungry, and then-Oh, heavens! how could she!-how could she have forgotten? Here was Randy on guard, up all night, and never before since they came back from their wedding tour had she failed when he was widow, is invited to visit the Graftons officer of the guard to have a delightful little chafing dish supper all ready for him at 12 o'clock, and he used to come over from his duties for half an hour and eat with such an appetite and praise her Welsh rarebit, or her oysters, and then take her in his arms with such love Chapter III.—Some time previous to this and delight in his fond eyes, and here pathy, she cried; and for advice he re- gallop in chase of the greasers. -and here it was one o'clock and she'd utterly forgotten it. Oh, poor Randy must be starving!

In ten minutes Mrs. Merriam had bundled up her dishevelled hair, donned

some more becoming gown than the tumbled wrapper, and had bustled downstairs and lighted the parlor lamp to signal Randy to come home and be fed and forgiven, and then she ransacked the cupboard and started her fire, and then peeped over toward the distant guardroom and saw no sign of his coming. She trotted through the kitchen and banged lustily at Hop Chapter VII.-Mrs. McLane arrives at Ling's door and bade him rise and go summon his master, but the menial answered not. Yes, yes, well she knew that he was too noble, too grand to treat her sternly, coldly, because of her tempestuous outbreak. It was all because she loved him so-loved him so that it was torture to think any other woman could claim or hold or even attract him. With brightening eyes, with bounding heart, she threw over her head and shoulders a light wrap and stepped out on the piazza. Somebody was coming across the parade-from the guardhouse-even now. He was still too far away to be recognized, but as he halted one minute and turned as though to listen to the sentries just beginning to call half-past one, the moonlight glinted on the steel gate, intending only to glance at the scabbard, and she knew it must be Randy. Then he was coming to her after all, and she need not have to seek him and be the first to "make up," as call went round with echoing ring, and vexation that there was no sentry there ligious reformer who founded the Men-How she loved that martial stride of steps and look for him toward the other Russians belong. This circumstance cost the blameless but timid Comte de Remusat his place as master of the robes. The emperor spoiled his clothes so frequently that the imperial tailor was constantly receiving fresh orders, and $4,000 became insufficient to meet the bills. The master of robes was foolishly afraid to mention the subject to Napoleon, and continued to give unsatisfactory replies to the insistent tailor who became pressing in his demands. A NATION OF DYSPEPTICS.

From the Mountaineer. Walhalla, N. Dak. The remorse of a guilty stomach is what large majority of the people are suffering with to-day. Dyspepsia is a characteristic American disease and it is frequently stated that "we are a nation of dyspeptics."

Improper food, hurried eating, mental worry, exhaustion; any of these produce a lack of vitality in the system, by causing the blood to lose its life-sustaining elements. The blood is the vital element in our lives and should be carefully nurtured. Restore the blood to its proper condition, dyspepsia will vanish and good health follow.

For example, in the county of Pembina, North Dakota, a few miles from Walhalla, resides Mr. Ernest Snider; a man of sterling integrity, whose veracity cannot be doubted. He says:

"I became seriously ill three years ago. The doctor gave me medicine for indigestion, but I continued to become worse. I had several physicians at intervals who gave me some relief, but nothing permanent "I read in the newspapers articles regarding the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and finally concluded to try the pills. I purchased six boxes. This was five months ago. The first box gave me much relief. I continued taking the pills, and after using four boxes was cured.

These pills are recognized everywhere as a specific for diseases of the blood and nerves. what is most peculiar in the hatching of the For paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and other diseases long supposed incurable, they have proved their efficacy in thousands of cases.

CONGENIAL OCCUPATION.

Light and Profitable Employment for a Poor Old Man Who Had Nothing But Money.

The old stock broker limped wearily down the familiar country road on which in boyhood days he had often driven the cows homeward to their barn at milking time, and ever and anon some familiar teature of the landscape caught his eye. Years ago his father had died and left the farm to his brother and himself. Soon tiring of the dull toil of a farmer's life, he resolved to go to the city and seek his fortune.

Here his honest face secured him a position with a Wall street firm, the members of the firm assuming that an honest, ingenuous countenance was such a rarity in their line of business that it might attract attention and add to their clientele. Soon branching out for himself, he in time became one of the largest operators on the street. But, caught in a crash, he was penniless, and was now forced to seek a home with his brother's sons, who had prospered

As he reached the familiar gate the young husbandmen saw him, and with a yell they rushed to meet their uncle.
"Come right in! You shall not want for anything!" cried Jabe. "The room you occupied when a boy is ready for you!" shouted Bijah. "Not a lick of work shall you do!" chimed in another of his nephews.

"Hush, boys!" said the old stock broker 'I'm still able to work, and shall do my share. Never shall it be said that I ate of anyone's bread and ended my days in slothfulness.

"Well," answered one of the nephews, can you think of any light work about the place you could do? Something congenial, you know, that won't seem too strange and hard for you? "Yes," replied the uncle, after a pause, "I have it. I shall water the stock!"-Cin-

The Awkwardness of Being a Prince.

The Prince of Wales is placed by fate in the most difficult position of any English subject. Libeled incessantly, continuously and malignantly, silence is imposed on him by reasons of state. If he patronizes the drama, for the neglect of which the queen is persistently blamed, the prince is depicted as a trifler, who finds in the society of mummers relief from the tedium of a wasted life. If he encourages our national sports, he is a profligate and is compared with royal predecessors, whose conduct would certainly not commend itself today even to the stanchest supporters of monarchy. If he does not lavish money he does not possess, he is said to be stingy. If he makes an outlay on a church at Sandringham or a ball at Marlborough House, he is a spendthrift. Unworthy friendships are attributed to him with men upon whom he has never set eyes or with whom he may perhaps have exchanged a casual word. If he plays a game of cards, he is a gambler.

Fierce as is the light that beats upon a throne, the cruel and searching illumination of the prince's life inflicts on him the disabilities and responsibilities, while denying him either the power of the throne or the privileges of a private station.—Harper's Magazine.

The English Broom.

One of the botanical oddities of Massachusetts is the existence of the English broom, which grows in only two places -in Sterling, this county, and in Salem. It is not a native plant, and how it got across the water is a mystery. Perhaps some homesick colonist caused it to be sent to him, that the hills about his new home might have the familiar appearance of the old country. It is a beautiful golden yellow in color and grows in a compact, spirelike plant, with blossoms close together. So thick are the stalks that the pastures are like sheets of gold, and at first sight seem to be buttercups in masses. Arba Pierce brought some of it into the city and proposes to make a display of it at the exhibition of the horticultural society.

Every one has heard of the broom. English and Scotch literature is full of it. It was the flower of the royal house of Plantagenet. In fact, the name Plantaganet is the French for broom plant a genet. Their ancestor, the Count d'Anjou, wore a string of broom as a badge, therefore their name. The name broom is given it because of its usefulness for the purpose. - Worcester (Mass.) Ga-

A Bismarck Duel.

A duel in which Bismarck was once From Cincinnati-10:58 a. m.; 5:38 p engaged had a very amusing origin. It occurred when he was chief secretary From Lexington-5:11 a. m.; 7:45 a. m.; of the Prussian legation at Frankfort. He went much into society, and one Christmas attended a big ball. During the height of the festivities Bismarck's attention was directed to an exceedingly pompous individual who strutted about the room. This was a M. de Clancy, a To Cincinnati-5:15 a. m.; 7:51 a. m.; noted French duelist. Later on this important individual took part in a dance, but having omitted to leave his hat at the proper place had perforce to hold it out almost at arm's length while he To Maysville-7:50 a. m.: 6:35 p. m. danced. The spectacle tickled Bismarck immensely, and as the Frenchman came sailing majestically along Bismarck stepped forward and dropped a coin into the hat. A duel was one of the next day's events. Though it was with pistols Bismarck escaped unhurt, while his adversary was wounded.

Freedom From a Terrible Slavery. At last, I am thankful to say, the opera is dead. No longer shall my soul be corroded by the thought that I ought Rhubarb, Asparagus and all stock to be in my stall and am not. No longer when I am in my stall shall I writhe in anger to think of the stupidity of wasting my time so. - London Saturday

GREENBACKS or Government Money.

At close of our Civil War in 1865. there appeared in the London Times the following:

"If that mischievous financial policy which had its origin in the North American Republic during the late Civil War in that country, should become indurated down to a fixture, then that government will furnish its money without cost. It will have all the money that is necessary to carry on its trade and commerce. It will become prosperous beyond precedent in the history of civilized nations of the world. The brain and wealth of all countries will go to North America. THAT GOVERNMENT MUST BE DESTROYED OR IT WILL DE-STROY EVERY MONARCHY ON THIS GLOBE.'

The famous Hazzard circular, to capitalists in New York, and the Buell Bank circular to United States Bankers, both emanating from London, and the fabulous corruption fund raised in England and Germany, estimated at $1,500,000, were the agents that secured the closing of our mints against

The "walk into my parlor" policy of England, during and since the Spanish War, is the latest evidence of English Diplomacy in shaping the destiny of the United States Govern-

Notwithstanding the famine price of wheat, the Spanish War, and fabulous expenditures of money by our government during the past year, gold has increased in value eleven per cent. and all other values decreased in the same proportion.

For a thorough understanding of the money question, or silver issue, the Cincinnati Enquirer has uniformly given evidence of its ability to teach, explain and produce all facts and truth. It is a paper that ought and can be read by all classes with pleasure and profit.
